SHAPPARD MURDER TRIAL OPENS TODAY

"DEMOCRATIC ACTION" GROUP BACKS AID PLAN

Also Urges Franco Overthrow; Mrs. Roosevelt, Welles Among Signers.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—Prompt approval of the full Marshall plan for European recovery together with economic measures against Spain to hasten the overthrow of the Franco government" were called for today by Americans for Democratic Action.

The self-styled progressive political organization urged that the United States, as part of a "liberal foreign policy," give unstinting support to the "non-Communist left' in Europe which, it said, is the strongest bulwark against communism.

The fate of democratic forces everywhere depends on us," the statement said. "The leaders of the non-Communist left in Europe who are * * * continuing their struggle against the police state cannot survive without our support."

The ADA foreign policy statement also:

Voiced sharp criticism of Argentina's President Juan Peron and Chinese Generalissimo Chiang Kai Shek.

Proposed that the multi-billion dollar program for helping Europe help itself back to its feet be administered by an international body similar to the three-year-old European coal conference.

Urged that there be no American interference with European programs of nationalized or socialized industries.

Said the possibility that Britain should be furnished additional funds above its share in the Marshall plan should be "fully explored."

Termed stabilization and reduction of American prices, particularly those of foods, essential to success of the Marshall plan and declared that controls will be needed at home to prevent a repetition of the "melancholy effect" of rising prices on the now virtually exhausted British loan of 1946.

On List of Signers

Signers of the ADA statement include Sumner Welles, former undersecretary of state; Mrs. Franklin D Roosevelt, delegate to the United Nations; Herbert Lehman former New York governor and UNRRA director; Paul Porter, former OPA administrator and chief of the U. S. supreme mission to Greece; and Publisher Mark Ethridge of hte Louisville Courier-Journal and Times.

Declaring that America's foreign economic policy thus far has failed to attain its objectives despite the outlay of billions of dollars, the ADA described the four-year European recovery program as opening "incredible opportunities of creating a better world."

The statement asserted, however that the United States cannot block Communist expansionism by welcoming "fascists and reactionaries — the Francos and Perons" into an anti-Soviet alliance. It added:

The best invitation to communism in Europe would be to set up a chain of Francos across the continent. Franco may be reliably anti-Communist, but his form of totalitarianism if backed by the U. S., would drive the common people of Europe into the arms of Russia.

The greatest opportunity for Communist penetration of Asia would arise from unqualified military support of Chiang Kai-shek.

As for the Peron government, ADA acknowledged "a certain ferment' over the proper U. S. reaction. But it cautioned against coddling Argentine in close embrace and it urged intensified support of the Democratic governments of Latin America, citing Uruguay and Venezuela as "especially desirable examples."

Back Marshall Plan

On the Marshall plan, which Secretary of State Marshall has said will require up to $6,000,000,000 the first year and a possible four-year total of $20,000,000,000, the ADA said congress must authorize the full amount, appropriate the first year's funds and take both steps immediately."

Failure to act quickly and generously, the statement said, would jeopardize important "political

VAST CROWD OF COAL MINERS HEAR RED SPEAKER

FRENCH MINERS IN HUGE RALLY. Just a short time before the French government began its nationwide roundup of strike leaders and strikers, a huge crowd of coal miners gathered in the Municipal Square at Henin, France (top), to listen to Maurice Thorez, the French Communist leader. Thorez, shown below in close up was believed to be among the scores of Red agitators marked for arrest. Some 230 were nabbed in the first crackdown. French officials said the loss of coal through the miners' strike would compel emergency rationing of fuel supplies for the next two months. (International Photo)

FIRE STRIKES YARDS JAMMED WITH STOCK

Quick Action by Firemen Holds Loss to Low Figure.

A fire from an overheated furnace at the Producers Livestock Cooperative Association office building at the stockyards on West Center street threatened some 2,362 head of cattle last night.

Due to early discovery of the blaze in a wood partition near the chimney, and prompt action by Marion firemen, the damage was held to an estimated $100, Chief Owen Sifritt reported.

Some 25 cattle buyers were present in the yards at the time the fire was discovered at 9 23 p. m. With a strong wind blowing last night, Chief Sifritt said, the blaze might have resulted in a fire similar to the one that almost destroyed the yards in January of 1936. At that time, however, only a few head of stock were in the pens.

The weekly auction started at 1 p. m. yesterday and extended until almost 11 p. m. with buyers pausing for a time to watch the firemen extinguish the fire. The blaze itself started in the partition separating the office room and a kitchen located in the center of the building then spread up toward the roof. It was discovered when someone nearby noticed smoke coming from under the eaves. Firemen from the West Center street station and quad truck from Central station responded.

Season's Coldest Wave Sweeps Midwest Area

By The Associated Press

The coldest weather of the season chilled parts of the midwest today as temperatures in some sections of Minnesota dropped to nearly 30 degrees below zero.

The icy blasts from Canada, centering in Minnesota, northern Iowa and western Wisconsin, spread over the entire Mississippi valley and the Great Lakes region southward over Texas and eastward across the north Atlantic coast.

Clear skies and an unbroken blanket of snow from 2 to 17 inches in depth were contributing factors to the sharp drop in temperatures in the three-state area reporting sub-zero temperatures.

"The Messiah" Set At 8 O'clock Tonight

Annual presentation of the Christmas oratorio, "The Messiah," by the Marion Civic chorus will be heard tonight at Epworth Methodist church at 8 o'clock. Doors of the church will be open at 7. Prof. Rexford Keller, head of the music department of Ohio Wesleyan university at Delaware, will direct the chorus which has been rehearsing for several weeks to prepare this yearly "Christmas gift to the Marion public." There will be no admission charge.

Russia Stops Talks With 'Hostile' France

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 9—Soviet Russia called off her trade talks with France today and accused the French government of acts "hostile and contrary to the spirit of alliance and mutual assistance" between the two countries.

The Moscow radio broadcast the contents of a note handed to the French charge d'affairs in Moscow by Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Feodor Gousev in which the Russian decision on the trades talks was disclosed.

Simultaneously Russia's note charged the French government with "unilaterally annulling" the two-year-old repatriation agreement for the return of each other's nationals, ordered the Russian repatriation mission home from France and announced the expulsion of the French mission from Russia.

The Soviet embassy in Paris announced earlier that the French repatriation mission had been ordered to leave Russian territory at once.

The embassy said the Russian government considered the Russian-French repatriation agreement of June 29, 1945, had been voided by a French decision to take over the Soviet repatriation center at Camp Beauregard, near Paris.

Moscow recalled its repatriation commission from France yesterday.

The Soviet embassy said the Russian repatriation mission would leave Paris today.

"Persecution" Charged

It explained that the action of the Russian government also was connected with the alleged persecution of Russian citizens and repatriates in France.

The French announced on Nov. 26 they had expelled 19 Russians from France for "interference" in French internal affairs during the strike crisis which is now harrassing the French government.

Twelve days earlier French authorities had staged a raid on the Beauregard repatriation center, taking away three children of a naturalized Frenchman whose former wife—a Soviet citizen—had taken them there.

To Russian protests concerning this raid the French replied the camp enjoyed no extraterritorialty and therefore was subject to search.

BRAKE TRUST ACTION FILED

Seven Corporations Named in Government Suit Charging Monopoly Attempt.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—The department of justice filed a civil anti-trust action in federal court here today charging seven large corporations with attempting to monopolize the manufacture and sale of brakes for automobiles and industrial equipment.

The suit seeks an injunction against alleged sales agreements among the defendants and also is aimed at breaking up "intercorporate stockholdings" alleged to have been used by the firms "to divide the manufacture and sale of braking systems into separate fields allocated among themselves on an exclusive basis.

The defendants are:

Bendix Aviation Corporation, South Bend, Ind.; Hydraulic Brake Co., Detroit; Wagner Electric Corporation, St. Louis, Mo.; E. I. du Pont De Nemours and Co., Wilmington, Del.; General Motors Corporation, Detroit; Bendix-Westinghouse Automotic Air Brake Co., Elyria, O.; and Westinghouse Air Brake Co., Wilmerding, Pa.

Attorney General Tom Clark said these companies did a $76,000,000 business last year in braking systems and parts and asserted:

"The unlawful patent and other activities with which these defendants are charged have resulted in arbitrary prices which the American automobile owners have had to pay and are still paying for the braking systems on their passenger cars, trucks and buses."

The department quoted the complaint as charging that "every automobile manufactured in the United States is equipped with hydraulic brakes on terms and conditions imposed by hydraulic brake company, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Bendix Aviation which, in turn, is partly owned by General Motors."

Moreover, the department said, the hydraulic brake company "requires passenger car manufacturers to purchase all, or in a few cases, most of their hydraulic braking systems and parts from Bendix Aviation and Wagner Electric, the former supplying most of the brake assemblies and the latter most of the actuating equipment."

Almost all of the fluid used in the hydraulic brakes is manufactured by du Pont and sold by du Pont and Wagner Electric, the department added.

"Wagner Electric and and Bendix-Westinghouse Air Brake Co., together sell almost all of the air brakes used in commercial motor vehicles in the United States."

U. S.-Owned Goods Earmarked For Russia, Congressman Says

By The United Press

WASHINGTON, Dec 9 — Rep. Rizley (R-Okla) said today congressional investigators have uncovered "quantities" of government-owned material in war assets administration warehouses in Cleveland, Chicago and other cities "earmarked" for shipment to Russia.

Rizley told a reporter "we have photographic proof" of the Russia-bound materials stored in Cleveland "and we know a similar condition exists in Chicago and some cities in Indiana.

"We're checking into it further and we intend to stop the shipments if possible."

The Oklahoma congressman, chairman of the house war surplus property subcommittee, said the investigation was made to verify reports from the office of Rep. Bolton (R-Ohio) concerning Cleveland.

Mrs. Bolton told a reporter the investigation reportedly has revealed "warehouses in Cleveland filled with materials marked for Russia, including big machines that possibly could be used for war purposes."

Rizley said the supplies apparently consisted of surplus materials and included machine tools and miscellaneous equipment.

He said "a full report will be made shortly, backed up with evidence," and added "there's no use in sending this stuff to the Communists who may turn it against us."

Mrs. Bolton said she would "hesitate" to cut off all exports to Russia "if it would mean also cutting off Russian exports to us of strategic raw materials such as chrome ore and manganese if we are unable to obtain these supplies from some other source.

"I would first want to make sure we could get these materials from some other country.

"But I don't think Russia is sending us anywhere near as much proportionately as we are sending to her and I believe Russia should get no more from us than she gives. Our exports to and imports from Russia should balance."

Mrs. Bolton said checks are being made now to determine quan-

FIREMEN BATTLE BLAZE IN GALION

Special to The Star

GALION, O., Dec. 9—Firemen were still battling a fire at noon today that broke out shortly after 10 a. m. in a garage owned by Mrs. Vergie Oberdier. There was no insurance on either the building or contents.

The blaze destroyed the garage itself, the contents and threatened to spread to a storage room of the Galion Lumber Co. which is just to the rear of the building. The loss has not been determined but is expected to run into several thousands dollars.

The fire, discovered by the owner's husband, Frank Oberdier, destroyed, two automobiles, one a 1946 model, a motor-bike, two bicyles, small trailer, $2,000 worth of tools and pattern designs, a recently refinished photographic dark room and about four rooms of furniture.

Part of the brick and metal structure was rented by Paul Downing, operators of the Service Taxi Co. Usually Mr. Downing stored six or seven cabs in the section but at the time of the fire, only one car was parked there and it was saved. One of the cars destroyed was owned by Louis Alkire, who rented space.

The building was approximately 50 by 80 feet with one side a story and a half high. Cause of the fire was not determined but it was thought that it was from a small furnace in the Downing side.

Bucyrus 50-Year Club To Hear Gov. Herbert

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, Dec. 9—The seventeenth annual gathering of the Bucyrus Fifty Year club tonight will be occasion for the appearance of Governor Thomas J. Herbert at Good Hope Lutheran parish house.

Governor Herbert's talk will be broadcast by the Marion radio station at 9 o'clock.

W. A. Blicke, president of the Bucyrus City bank, founder of the club, will again continue his practice of playing host to members of the club and a large number of guests at a dinner which will precede the governor's address.

BOY'S CONDITION CRITICAL

Carl Banks, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Banks of near Marion, who is in City hospital with burns, remains in critical condition, according to a report from the hospital. He was burned Saturday night when a kerosene can exploded as he was trying to build a fire at his home. More than two-thirds of the boy's body is covered with deep burns.

VETS HOUSING UNIT ASSURED WINTER HEAT

Council Provides for Oil Equipment; $4,000 Voted for Traffic Lights.

Installation of a large storage tank at the Lincoln park city housing unit site, authorized by city council at the semi-monthly meeting last night, assures veterans and their families housed there of an ample supply of fuel oil during the winter. The shortage of fuel oil at the housing project where 34 of the 50 veterans' families housed there depend on oil for heating, was placed before council at the last meeting two weeks ago. The tank is in process of being installed and it is expected the work will be completed by the end of the week.

Other business transacted by the members included approval of an ordinance authorizing renewal of a note issued Dec. 30, 1946, in anticipation of the issuance of bonds for constructing a fireproof addition to the City hospital and the renewal of contracts for the employment of a roentgenologist, a doctor to interpret electro cardiograms and a pathologist at the City hospital; purchase of overhead traffic lights not to exceed 10 in number and the matter of rental of the city offices.

Tank Purchase Authorized

Safety Director E. O. Uncapher was authorized to purchase a fuel tank for the storing of fuel oil at the veterans' housing unit at a cost of $500, tank equipment at $200 and oil in the amount of $1,300. The fuel oil will be purchased by the veterans from the city at no additional cost, the arrangement being not a business enterprise but merely to insure veterans against a shortage of fuel. Fifteen of the families burn coal.

Renewal of the City hospital note was for one year in anticipation of reports from aid from federal and state governments relative to municipal hospital projects. Safety Director Uncapher was authorized to renew the contracts for the continued employment of a roentgenologist, a qualified physician to interpret the electro cardiograms and a pathologist at the City hospital for periods of two years, all to go into effect early in the new year.

Traffic Light Fund Voted

The sum of $4,000 was appropriated from the general fund for the purchase and installation of traffic lights where there seemed to be a need and a resolution was approved for rental of offices occupied by the city departments in the Eagles' building at $700 per month. The new lease calls for an increase of rental from $140 to $700. According to the contract, which becomes effective Jan 1, 1948, the lease may be terminated at the option of the city at 30 days notice. The lease, which is for one year goes into effect Jan 1, 1948.

A claim for damages to his automobile as a result of street repair equipment being left unlighted, was ordered paid to Lawrence McDannel and an ordinance appropriating $50 from the general fund for the services of an assistant judge and the transfer of $65.35 from the general fund to the claims account for election expenses not withheld as provided in the general code was ordered.

Budget Approved

A resolution accepting amounts and rates as determined by the budget commission authorizing the necessary tax levies to be certified to the county auditor was approved. The summary of amounts required from the general property tax follows: sinking fund, $65,030.27, rate $1.58 (outside the 10 mill levy); general fund, $158,871.42, rate $3.86; police pension, $12,347.52, rate .30; fire pension $12,347.52, rate .30 (all inside the 10 mill levy).

Requests from transfer of properties from residential to commercial zoning by John and Louise Davis of 459 Windsor street and Anthony LaVenia of 585 Sugar street, were approved, following a public hearing. The Davis re-

SOVIET MOOD CHANGE SEEN

Believe Russians May Soon Be Ready To Deal with German Problems.

By The Associated Press

LONDON, Dec. 9—After two weeks of indecisive argument the foreign ministers council came to grips today with German reparations and other deadlocked issues amid widespread speculation that Russia may at last be in the mood to deal with the western powers on Germany's future.

Diplomats in the western camp looked to this afternoon's session for developments which could either enlarge or erase altogether the prospects of agreement suggested by a series of Soviet moves last night in which some observers saw a hint of willingness to compromise.

There were the moves:

(1) Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov submitted at the urging of U.S. Secretary of State George C. Marshall a comprehensive set of proposals for the economic unification of Germany.

(2) When Marshall asked whether acceptance of the Russian demand for $10,000,000,000 (billion) in reparations from Germany was a "condition" for Soviet acceptance of German economic unity, Molotov said it was not a "pre-condition." Instead, Molotov said, he felt that reparations and economic unity should be considered simultaneously—a statement which was interpreted in some quarters as indicating a readiness to dicker.

(3) Molotov did not reject outright, as he had at the Moscow conference, proposals by the western powers that in any economic zone merger various occupation deficits should be shared. The question, he said, could not be considered until each power determined what the costs would be.

(4) Following yesterday's session a Soviet official told reporters it had been a businesslike meeting and that progress could be made where there was a will to agree.

While these developments gave rise to a glimmer of hope that something might yet be accomplished by the London conference, western diplomats guarded against any tendency toward over-optimism.

ALL KEY OHIO BONUS POSITIONS FILLED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 9—All key administrative offices in distributing Ohio's $300,000,000 World War Two bonus were filled today.

The state sinking fund commission, general overseer of the bonus, selected the assistant director, comptroller and office manager of the bonus fund last night.

Courtney E. Kirby of Elyria, present state commissioner of soldiers' claims, was appointed assistant to Adj. Gen. Chester W. Goble, bonus director.

Mason Hayhurst of Columbus, office manager for State Auditor Joseph T. Ferguson, was named comptroller of the bonus fund, and Edward Schuele of Cleveland, manager of State Treasurer Don Ebright's bond department, bonus office manager and assistant comptroller.

All three will receive $6,500 a year and resign their present position; Hayhurst and Kirby, effective Dec. 16 and Schuele Jan. 1.

The commission also instructed Goble and Ed. D. Schorr, one of the bonus fund's attorneys, to prepare a draft of forms to be used in bonus applications, and approved a lease of the fourth and fifth floors of a building at 293 East Long street for 55 cents a square foot as bonus headquarters.

5 TENTATIVELY SEATED IN JURY BOX AT NOON

Three Men and Two Women Chosen After Preliminary Questioning.

Five jurors, three men and two women, were tentatively seated this morning in the opening session of the first degree murder trial of Ray A. Shappard.

Preliminary examination of prospective jurors was conducted by Common Pleas Judge Paul D. Smith followed by individual examination by the County Prosecutor James E. Reed, special assistant Prosecutor, Russell M. Wilhelm, and attorneys for Shappard, Ralph and Dwight Carhart.

The court convened promptly at 9 a. m. with approximately 45 spectators observing the selection of jurors. A brief recess was called during the morning and court adjourned at 11:45 until 1 p. m. when examination of prospective jurors was to continue.

The first person to be tentatively impaneled after the general examination by Judge Smith and individual examination by both the state and the counsel for Shappard, was Walter A. Dorsey of 293 South Vine street. Next to be accepted was Mrs. Alice W. Thibaut, of 460 West Columbia street. Third to be selected was Carl Fletcher, local implement dealer of near Marion Fourth and fifth were Mrs. Hulda Morris of Green Camp and Edward H. Huggins of 549 Delaware avenue.

27 Names Called

Mr. Huggins, who is 80, may be the oldest person to serve on the jury if he is passed without peremptory challenge by either the state or by counsel for Shappard.

In the morning session 27 names from a venire of 53, were called.

Of the 15 prospective jurors excused the majority upon questioning stated they either had formed an opinion in the case or did not believe in capital punishment.

Prosecutor Reed made it clear in his examination of possible jurors that the state would ask that Shappard be sent to the electric chair for the Sept. 19 slaying of Roxie Ann Green of near Prospect.

Jurors Excused

Prospective jurors excused are as follows: Samuel T. Long, Waldo, out of the courts bailiwick; Dazel P. Sosey, 1115 East Church street, excused prior to court session; Virginia Trimmer, 458 Scranton avenue, opposed to capital punishment; C. F. Weber, 360 Oak street, opinion; George W. Sorrells, Green Camp, would not return first degree verdict; Edward Moore, 212 Nye street opinion; Chad A. Hero, 205 Uhler avenue, would not return first degree verdict; C. C. Isler, Route 1, Prospect, excused by judge on inability to hear sufficiently well; Bashford Porter, Route 1, Agosta, opinion; Mrs. Helen P. Baldauf, 226 Summit street, capital punishment.

June Salvely, Route 1, Prospect, opposed capital punishment; Rinehart Goetting, 864 Girard avenue, excused by Judge Smith for insufficient hearing ability; Joe Rawlins, route 1 Waldo, subpoenaed witness in case; Robert Reidenbaugh, 260 Orchard street, opinion; Forest E. Reed, Martel, opposed to death penalty; and Frank Kanoda, New Bloomington, out of bailiwick.

Those Tentatively Seated

Prospective jurors accepted in the general examination by Judge Smith but still to be individually examined by the attorneys are P. C. Shamrock of Caledonia, who was on the stand when the court adjourned in the noon recess, Norma Hempy and L. E. Moyer, both of Waldo, Eva Brooks, Route 3, Richwood and Madelon Hamilton of Route 4, Marion.

Clerk of Court Calvin C. Oborn called the roll of jurors at 9:10 and the first 13 on the venire were seated in the jury box for the preliminary examination by the court.

Spectators were orderly and were only once cautioned by Judge Smith to observe silence. Police Captain E. C. Mackan and Deputy Sheriff Edgar Fink were on duty in the courtroom.

The defendant, Ray Shappard, sat behind his counsel, who occupied the counsel table to the far side of the courtroom from the main door. He was in custody of Sheriff LeRoy Retterer.

Prisoner's Interest Divided

Shappard apparently was only perfunctorily interested in the proceedings and divided his attention between witnesses being examined and the recording equipment transcribing the progress of the examinations. Whenever Prosecutor Reed had occasion to point out that the state was asking the death penalty during the lengthy questionings, Shappard was seen to smile, the only change in his calm mien during the morning session.

Across the courtroom at the counsel table for the state sat Carl Green, father of the slain girl.

Santa and the GOOD BOY

BY LUCRECE MUDGINS

CHAPTER FIVE

Mr. Sleek Decides to Test Tom

SANTA was filled with joy: He put his hands on Tom's shoulders and said, "You are a good boy, son."

The blackhaired boy looked worried. "I am rough and tough," he replied. "I am the toughest boy in Mizoo, I think, and I should hate to have any of the kids hear you say that I am good."

Tom's mother gasped but Santa smiled and nodded. "You have to be tough to get along in the world. I am glad you are tough."

Then he said: "I must go now for I have a long, long trip to make and only a handful of minutes left." But as he went out the door he turned again and said, "Tell me, Tom. Is there a Santa Claus?"

The boy stuck his hands in his pockets. "Sure," he said. "Sure, there's a Santa Claus, but—" His voice trailed off and he look at the floor unhappily."

"But what?" asked Santa gently.

"Well—he never comes to our house."

His mother put her arm around him and smiled at Santa. "We are poor," she xeplained. "We live on the edge of the town and I do not think Santa can find our house."

"I think he will find it this year," said Santa softly and he disappeared in the dark.

OUT in the stormy darkness Santa took off his disguise and put on his old red suit and rubbed snow on his cheeks and chin so that his whiskers grew back again.

Then he cupped his hands around his mouth and whistled. The sound travelled across the fields, then up and up and up, through the falling snow almost to the very stars. When it finally died away there was another sound—tinkling bells!—low at first, then louder and louder until suddenly eight reindeer pulling a large red sleigh slid out of the sky.

Santa leaped into the sleigh and took the reins. "Fly!" he cried. "Fly away!"

Meanwhile, in Santa Land, Mr. Sleek stood outside Santa's cottage. "Three more minutes," he shouted, "and the toys will begin to burn!"

"How wicked you are!" cried Mrs. Claus, clasping her hands

"THERE IS NO SUCH CHILD! I SHALL TEST HIM AND SEE!"

fearfully and swallowing her tears.

Mr. Sleek shrugged and called to his sprouts, the wicked fairies who were waiting with torches and hatchets to set fire to the work shops and chop up the toys. The Santa Land folk huddled together and strained to hear the sound of Santa's bells

"Ashes and switches we'll make for the children," screamed Mr Sleep in a frenzy. "Lay on the fire, sprouts, and the world will never have Christmas again!"

But as the sprouts leaped to their task the good Santa Land elves and fairies screamed, "Stop! stop!" and threw themselves on the sprouts.

And Mrs. Claus, suddenly hearing the sound of bells in the sky, screamed, too, "Stop! Remember your bargain!"

"The bargain is kept!" retorted Mr. Sleek, who had not heard the bells. "For the 24 hours is up this minute and Santa Land is mine."

BUT even as he spoke Santa's sled dropped out of the sky and Santa himself stood before the evil creature.

"Leave my land," cried Santa. "For you have promised and even an evil thing must keep his word."

"What!" screamed Mr. Sleek. "Do you imagine you have found a child in the world who is good?"

"I have," said Santa. "Tom Clover is his name and he lives in the one room house on the edge of Mizoo."

Then angry indeed was Mr. Sleek! He turned red with fury and his bald head glistened with sweat and noises sputtered in his throat.

"I don't believe it," he finally roared. "Is this Tom Clover—this Tom Clover of Mizoo—is he brave? Is he honest? Is he clever and gentle and kind?"

"He is all of that and more," said Santa

"There is no such child!" said Mr Sleek. "I shall test him and see If he is not all of these things I shall destroy him and I shall return and have my way with you."

"Go," replied Santa calmly. "Test him and see"

But, though his voice was calm, he was filled with alarm and he thought, "What if I have chosen wrong?"

This time it's Hudson

the car they said was years away!

This is your day! Set the time; see the car you've been told was years away!

A style-setting beauty, with a sparkling and massive front grille. A car that is only five feet high, and with the lowest center of gravity you've ever known, but with a new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame that gives you more inside head room than any other car built today.

A car with the roomiest seats ever built into any American-made automobile.

A car you step down into when entering, not up on—yet a car that maintains road clearance! A car that cradles you not only between axles, but ahead of the rear wheels.

All of this is made possible by a basic new development in motor car design—Hudson's Monobilt body-and-frame, shown in phantom view and described to the right.

The Hudson dealers listed here are ready with information about Hudson's all-new Super-Six engine—the most powerful six built today—and Hudson's masterful Super-Eight. They will tell you about Hudson's exclusive Drive-Master—no clutch pushing, no gear shifting in forward speeds.

See Hudson's gorgeously upholstered interiors, with chrome handles and hardware recessed into side panels, out of the way. Examine all of Hudson's new beauty, comfort and convenience features, including a new type of low-pressure, Super-Cushion tire that mounts on a new, wide safety rim. See how Hudson's wide, curved windshield and rear window give added vision all around.

Get a good look at this new kind of car—a type of automobile no one else in the world is prepared to build today! It's something to see—the nearest Hudson dealer will show it to you now!

A CAR YOU RIDE IN . . . NOT ON!

Hudson is the only motor car that completely encircles you, even outside the rear wheels, with a rigid box-steel foundation frame. You ride within this new construction, instead of on top of it as in other cars. And every unit of Hudson's new, all steel Monobilt body-and-frame is welded into one solid structure that provides unusual rigidity and stability.

Marion Man, Ohio K. of C. Head Honored in Lodge Ceremony

Initiation of a large class of candidates Sunday afternoon and a banquet Sunday night, sponsored by Marion Council No. 671, Knights of Columbus, honored Thomas E. Andrews, state deputy and a member and past grand knight of the local council. State officers and a picked degree staff exemplified the major degrees Sunday afternoon in the Eagles' hall and the banquet, attended by approximately 250 members, state officers and guests, was held in Eagles' hall. The class will be known as the Thomas E. Andrews class. Speaker for the banquet was Rev. Roy Bernert of Steubenville, executive secretary to the state deputy.

Mr. Andrews served as grand knight of Marion Council from 1937 to 1939, and held the offices of district deputy, state warden, state treasurer and state secretary before being elected state deputy last May in Cleveland.

Only Hope of Peace

A world returning to prayer and a spirit of love, not hate, among individuals and nations is the only hope of peace, Mr. Bernert said in his address. Not one man, he continued, knows anything about what is going to happen tomorrow between nations and not one man has any conception of what might happen; not one man, except the Holy Father, is raising his voice in a guiding nature; we look into the White House, into No. 10 Downing street, into the hearts of other nations and not one is on speaking terms or have friendly relations with the others; all are standing by to see what will happen."

The Very Rev. William J. Spickerman, V. F., state chaplain and pastor of St. Mary Catholic church, paid tribute to the state deputy's loyalty and work in the local, district and state councils, as did the other speakers of the evening. He urged the new members to be faithful to the principles of Columbianism in their loyalty to the church, the nation and Catholic Action.

Floyd Cornely Presides

Floyd Cornely, grand knight presided as toastmaster and the welcome was extended by Robert McCollister, deputy grand knight. J. M. Dunn, district deputy, Charles A. Gallaher and L. A. Axe of the local council, V. J. Paul of Cuyahoga Falls, a past state deputy and Walter Marnell of Cleveland, formerly of Delaware. The state deputy in a brief talk welcomed the candidates, calling on their united support of both church and council and told some of the hopes and plans of the state organization. Letters were read from Edward McHugh, supreme director and the supreme knight, John E. Swift, who were unable to be present.

Arrangements for the dinner served by the Daughters of Isabella, were in charge of Robert W. Garster.

The first degree was conferred Saturday night in the local council rooms and Sunday morning the visiting officers, candidates and members of the council attended the 7:30 o'clock mass and received holy communion in a body.

IN PALESTINE DEAL — It is rumored in London circles that King Abdullah Ibn Ul-Hussein of Trans-Jordan might seek to incorporate Arab Palestine into his country. Because of British support, he might give Great Britain rights to the bases in the port of Jaffa, Palestine.

Marion Woman Shoots Deer from Cabin Window

While other members of a hunting party worked to get their deer recently, Mrs. E. P. McAfee of 345 Belmont street calmly bagged an 11-point buck by shooting from a window of the cabin.

The couple returned early Monday morning after a three-month stay at their hunting camp at New Brunswick, Nova Scotia, bringing home three deer. Mr. McAfee estimated that each of the animals would average approximately 190 pounds dressed.

The unusual manner in which Mrs. McAfee brought down her first buck still amazes the couple. The buck had wandered into the camp yard at about 10:30 a. m. one day while the men were out stalking their game. Mrs. McAfee saw the animal pause about 75 feet from the cabin and opening the window she felled the buck with one shot.

Recently the couple started a hunting camp there and have had several parties from Marion during the hunting season. The section of the country affords salmon and trout fishing, as well as bear hunting in the spring. Grouse is also plentiful.

Mr. Bird was asked to go to Cleveland in 1946 to become entertainment director for the Cleveland Browns football team after becoming famous for his swing and marching bands at Massillon High school. He was asked to fill the position by Paul Brown, now coach of the Browns, who previously coached at Massillon school.

ARMY EDITORS DENY DAILY WORKER STORY

By The Associated Press

TOKYO, Dec. 9—Two "damn angry" editors of Stars and Stripes denied vigorously today charges made in the New York Daily Worker that General MacArthur is using the Army newspaper to give his troops "his distorted popaganda."

A lengthy page one editorial, first ever published in Stars and Stripes, was signed by Hanson H. Hatnaway, managing editor, and George W. Hurd, executive city editor, both of Washington, D. C., and both civilians.

It declared neither MacArthur "nor any of his delegated officers or civilian aides have ever dictated or tried to dictate what Stars and Stripes in the Pacific should or should not print.

"We are a damn angry newspaper," continued the editorial, whose authors said it was written on their own initiative.

"The American soldier in the far east at whose morale the Daily Worker is blasting in this attack on his chief, is no sucker for such Communist propoganda.

"Without doubt these (Daily Worker's) charges stem from the typewriter of one of two former Stars and Stripes staff members who were dismissed and returned to the United States after a negative loyalty check."

Wine Dealers Protest Ban on Miniatures

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 9—Ohio's state Liquor board today had under consideration an appeal by state wine dealers against a ban on wine sales in three-ounce bottles.

State Liquor Director Dale Dunlon stopped "miniatures" sales of alcoholic beverages last month, following complaints that high school youths were secreting them in their pockets and carrying them to football and basketball games.

Aaron Grad of Cincinnati, representing wine interests, told the board at a public hearing yesterday the ban on wine miniatures was defeating its own purpose, by forcing a man to buy more wine than he wanted.

"If the kids are interested in that sort of thing," he said, "they'll buy whisky, I understand, anyway, that all the complaints come from the sale of whisky miniatures."

Galion League Cancels Grocery Sale Plans

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec. 9—E. D. Hilton, one of the proprietors of the Maccabee hall announced today that in keeping with an agreement made with officials of the Galion Cooperative Industrial League, there will be no groceries sold at the fair planned for Wednesday night.

According to the original plans, the League, represented by Edward J. Duck, organizer for the CIO United Auto Workers, had planned to put $500 worth of groceries on sale for cost during the fair. Officials hoped the sale would interest workers of various Galion plants in forming a consumers cooperation and buyers clubs. Object is an effort to lower the high cost of living through a cooperative group.

TRAINS AND AUTOS IN TWO ACCIDENTS

Driver Hits Standing Freight Car Near Prospect.

Four traffic accidents, two of which involved trains and passenger cars were reported by city police and state highway patrolmen today, making a total of three train-car collisions in two days.

Howard T. Jones, 59, of near Prospect suffered shock, fractured rib and a lacerated left leg at 7:00 p. m. yesterday when the car he was driving crashed into a standing freight train at the Marion road crossing about a mile northeast of Prospect. Patrolmen said his three-year-old grandson, Dale, of Prospect escaped with only a lacerated chin. They were treated by a Prospect physician and released. The conducter of the southbound C. and O. freight was R. D. Humphrey of Columbus. The car was demolished.

Erwin L. Zachman, 61, of near Caledonia escaped uninjured when his car was struck by an Erie switch engine at the Bennett street crossing at 5:15 p. m. yesterday, city police reported. Zachman was driving east, the engine was southbound. The train crew included G. R. Blake of 482 Davids street, conductor, Dale Barrett of 1555 East Walnut street and R. E. Williams of 491 Wilson avenue, brakemen. The left side of the car was damaged.

Love's Perilous Path

By ADELE GARRISON

"DICKY! Dicky!" I expostulated, helpless with laughter. "If you haven't a blood pressure, you'll surely develop one after this explosion."

"It's worth it," he gasped. "And Georges won't have enough blood left to have a pressure after I get through with him."

"Does that mean," I asked smiling, "that you've modified your original idea of strangling him?"

He gave me a companionable grin, and I saw that, as usual, his explosive anger had worked itself off.

"There probably would be diplomatic repercussions," he said, "and I might even get my own neck stretched, although it would be worth it—almost."

"Strangling a million heels like Georges wouldn't be worth it," I said, and he gave me another grin.

"You're coming on," he said. "That I should have lived to hear you call anybody a 'heel.' You'll be saying 'darn it all!' if you don't look out."

Although I could not help laughing at his falsetto imitation of my supposed expletive, I had the old sense of annoyance at his strictures against what he terms my "school-ma-am prejudices' for speech free from slang.

"Never mind, old dear," he amended. "You suit me just as you are. Don't go changing yourself."

"I haven't the slightest intention of changing," I told him, and his smile this time held tenderness.

"Good girl" he commented. "Now, having let me clear the atmosphere, suppose you go on with the yarn."

"There isn't any more of the story," I said. "That's all that Mary told me, and all, I'm sure that she knows. But—"

"Don't be shy!" he adjured me. "There is something more, I see. Come on! Tell Papa! He won't spank if you tell the truth, the whole truth, and nothing but the truth."

"If you can stop 'being as funny as you can' for a few minutes," I told him laughing, "I'll tell you of a scheme in which I want your cooperation."

"Proceed!" he said pontifically. "The court will not interrupt the witness."

"Mary has had but one thought in her mind since she knew she must attend this wedding," I began, "and that was a scheme to deflate Georges. She said if she could have occasional three minute interviews with him alone, she would reduce him to such lowly stature that he wouldn't dare to cast even an eyelash in her direction during the marriage ceremony. That is the thing which is Olina's secret dread, I am sure," I interpolated. "She let slip a remark, you know, that she wouldn't be sure—and I knew she mentally added—of Georges' forgetfulness of Mary unless he saw them together at the wedding."

"That poor kid!" Dicky ejaculated, "and that colossal . . ."

"I agree with you," I said, "but I couldn't agree with Mary's plan. Short a deux interviews, with Georges simply couldn't be managed at the hide-a-way—one perhaps, but not more. So I outlined a substitute plan to her which appeared to strike her fancy, except, I could see that she wanted at least one chance—"

"To kick the royal playboy where he needs it most," Dicky finished.

"I think that was her general idea," I said, "and I promised her I would manage that. With that assurance, she enthusiastically approved of the rest of my plan. But it involves you and Noel,—and me, and I want your counsel."

"Involving you and me, that's okay by me. I'll love any part of it, especially if it involves corporal punishment, taking him over the knee, or anything like that," he amended hopefully. "But why should Noel have any part in the film. He'll only mess things up."

"He may not have to know anything about this role in the little play," I said. "That's one of the things on which I want to ask your advice."

He looked at me keenly.

"Something inspirational is evidently brewing in the alleged brain," he said. "And advice is something on which I'm there 'the fustest with the mostest.'"

The Dynasts of Mars

THE Krupp industrialists who went on trial Monday for war crimes are the heirs of Alfred Krupp, a metallurgist who set up a small forge at Essen about 1810. For the next 30 years the Krupp plant was small, employing less than 150. Then Krupp perfected a muzzle-loading cast steel gun and in 1851 exhibited in London a two-ton ingot of flawless cast steel. These caused sensations in the industrial world and the Krupp star was in the ascendancy.

In addition to being known as the cannon king, Krupp set up model villages around Essen, each with schools, libraries, clubs and playgrounds. Krupp's son, Freidrich, wasn't a researcher like his father, but a keen businessman who surrounded himself with the best metallurgists and ordnance experts. So the Krupps became armorers and ordnance men to the Hohenzollern empire.

After World War I the Krupp plants concentrated on locomotives and farm implements. That it was able to reconvert to war manufacture in the 1930's was as much an evidence of allied weakness as it was of German strength. The Germany that will shape itself in the decades to come will be an industrial land. The allies must see that German industry never again falls into the hands of men who are the spiritual heirs of the Krupp dynasty.

A Man of Good Will

"WHO'S who in America" devotes one and one-quarter columns to Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler, a fair indication of the wide range of his activities. Dr. Butler, who was 85 when he died Sunday, led a rich, full life which brought many honors to him and organizations with which he was associated. In 1931 he shared the Nobel peace prize with Jane Addams.

As president of Columbia university more than 40 years, Dr. Butler was instrumental in shaping it into one of the world's great institutions of learning. He was the recipient of the decorations of 15 foreign nations and the honorary degrees of 38 universities. His advice and help was sought by many organizations promoting international understanding and amity. Dr. Butler was truly an outstanding man of good will. His name will live long after him.

The Basic Weakness

THE Arabs' defiance of the UN Palestine decision emphasizes the greatest weakness in the organization: it has no real code of law to guide it and it lacks the means to enforce its decisions.

The Arabs' attitude has precedent. The Soviet Union has chosen to boycott several UN rulings, notably the little assembly proposals. The day before the Palestine proposal was adopted, Yugoslavia and Bulgaria adopted a mutual assistance treaty to bar the duly-constituted UN Balkan commission for their territories

This basic weakness could be a fatal weakness, for until the UN devises some means of enforcing its decisions, it will be a body of questionable power.

Queen for A Day—Maybe

KING MICHAEL of Romania is planning to marry Princess Anne of Bourbon-Parma. The king's secretary says permission will be asked of the Romanian Communist leaders, without whose consent Michael doesn't dare make a move.

Princess Anne once worked in a New York hat shop. Michael is wise in choosing a girl who has had some experience in earning a living, for the monarchial setup in Romania is such that she might be queen for a day.

Blind Aid Is Inadequate

OHIO'S blind pensioners have been hard hit by rising prices. Their present pension, $36 a month, is inadequate to provide the minimum necessities. Far more liberal allowances are made to the aged, who are no less helpless than the blind. Several other states top Ohio's figure.

Ohio has 3,800 blind persons, 800 of whom are employed and receive no pension. For the remaining 3,000, the Philomatheon Society is endeavoring to have the pension increased to $45, plus $200 yearly medical expenses and $160 for funeral and burial costs.

The number of Ohio's blind isn't so large that these reasonable increases would cripple the state's finances. The society deserves support in its worthy program.

Every Ohioan's Duty

ALL Ohioans can help the state in its campaign against sales tax dodgers. In many cases failure to issue sales tax stamps isn't the fault of the merchant but of clerks who have become careless. Instructions and admonitions are only partly effective, and it's the duty of every purchaser to see that he gets stamps for his money. He can destroy them if he doesn't elect to save them.

The customer who demands tax stamps sees that the state gets its full share of the revenue, and eases its difficult task of seeing that there is no evasion of the law.

Meat Shortage Scare

By Raymond Moley

Democrats Fear Republicans To Get Another Boost.

A WIDESPREAD belief exists among Democratic politicians that the meat shortage was responsible for the election of a Republican congress in 1946. This theory has only limited merit. The meat shortage was an immediate irritant, but the underlying weakness of the Democratic party was much more deep-seated and of long standing.

In any event, since they believe that a meat shortage ushered in the Republicans, there are many Democrats who hope to use another meat shortage to usher them out in 1948. This is the political reason for the present alarm in Washington about a meat shortage next spring. If no serious meat shortage develops in 1948, no political storm can come from bad predictions in late 1947. If it does develop and congress has failed to enact the President's program, a strong political argument is created on the Democratic side.

This is not to say that the department of agriculture is presenting an economic case which has no merit. There has been more slaughtering of hogs and cattle than was anticipated. This has been due to the short corn crop and the high price of all grain. Fewer hogs are being raised, because of the short supply of corn on the farm. Hence, the department of agriculture may be right in predicting a shorter supply of meat next spring.

The real issue is whether the President's program is a suitable means of anticipating a shorter meat supply. A program directed to the replacement of meat in the American diet might be more advisable and it would meet with less opposition in Congress and with the public. Fishing facilities might be usefully expanded. Importations might be encouraged. And the production of other forms of protein might be developed. The objective might be to reduce meat consumption to the level of 1939 from the abnormal averages of 1946 and 1947. Almost any measure is preferable to a further adventure in bureaucracy.

Rationing of Meat

The rationing of meat operated without great difficulty during the war, largely because the supply was fairly high. But when an effort was made to continue price control and rationing after the war, the black markets swallowed more and more, and those who could not afford black market prices got less and less.

Rationing could hardly be set up in time to meet an emergency. And if, by spring, the prospects for a better corn crop are bright, rationing would be obsolete.

Moreover, the threat of a grain shortage has been greatly exaggerated. We have promised to export some 300,000,000 bushles, and the government and private exporters have 400,000,000 in hand. The remainder can be collected over a period of six months. We shall be carrying over 150,000,000 to 200,000,000 bushels as a protection against a bad crop. Since all this has been adequately calculated and organized, it would seem to be bad policy to send out alarms which can accomplish nothing except to encourage hoarding and high prices.

"Inside Society," But Not By Gunther

The new Social Register is out . . . and with more names than ever.

Everything is up at least fifty per cent, including the Four Hundred.

The Social Register? The Social Register is the Kennel Blue Book of the Finger-bowl Set. It is made up largely of those who have more pride of ancestry than accomplishment.

Included in the latest edition, for instance, is a young lady who scandalized her community by sashaying down the main drag in her under-drawers. No formal invitations having been issued, the editors apparently felt she was justified in assuming that dress was optional.

In fact, about the only way to get dropped from the Social Register is to marry beneath your station, the theory being, I take it, that blue blood won't stand much diluting.

The Social Register is all right for those who go in for that sort of drivel. But most people had rather be in Dun and Bradstreet.

The Task of Beating Inflation

By Walter Lippmann

THOSE who have followed the argument about our inflation and what to do about it could now, it seems to me, come to one useful and definite conclusion. They could, without too much difficulty, name the key men whose views must be reconciled if the inflationary boom is to be checked and controlled.

These key men are, first, the leading figures in government finance; second, the leading figures on the Federal Reserve Board; third, the leading figures in the banking community. If they can agree on a policy and on measures, then the prospects of regulating the boom are good enough. If they disagree or go in opposite directions instead of in the same direction, then it is as certain as anything can be that the boom will run its course toward a bust.

LIPPMANN

For separately, it is impossible for the government, or for the Federal Reserve Board, or for the bankers to arrest the inflation, to subdue it and reduce it. Only in combination and with an agreed policy by all of them at the same time can the threatening conditions be brought under control.

Thus it is idle to talk of controlling the inflation if the federal budget is not balanced with a substantial surplus which is then used to redeem government debt held, not by the public, but by the banks. Therefore, the administration must hold down its expenditures and congress must not reduce taxes Without a budgetary surplus there can be no counterinflationary measures This requires an agreement between the administration and the congressional leaders

But that in itself will not be sufficient. The administration and congress will have to agree on measures to restrain the inflationary loans which the government credit agencies are issuing for real estate, for agricultural commodities, and for business.

Agreement will be necessary between the central bankers and the commercial bankers—that is to say between the Federal Reserve Board and the leading bankers in New York, Chicago, and in other financial centers For only by agreement among them on a common policy and common measures can the inflation of private credit, which is now proceeding at a high rate, be checked.

The commercial bankers alone cannot do this. Here we have the testimony of the National City Bank of New York, which says in its monthly letter for December that "It is the main responsibility of bank management and bank examiners to see that banks make only GOOD loans" and then goes on to say that "even if all loans are good there could still be overexpansion of credit which would be inflationary." It is the responsibility of the central bankers—of the Federal Reserve Bank—to see that the banks do not make too many loans, though each of them is good in the sense that the borrower is a sound risk.

The main issue which has to be reconciled between Mr. Eccles and the Federal Reserve Board on the one hand, the commercial bankers on the other, is how the overexpansion of bank credit is to be checked. No one really denies that the overexpansion needs to be checked. The disagreement which, if it is not overcome, may render all counterinflationary measures abortive, is over how the overexpansion of private credit is to be checked.

The problem is a very difficult one. The orthodox method, which was adopted in 1920 after the first World War, is to raise the discount rate so high that the credit becomes too dear to use. In 1920 the rate was raised to 6 per cent and 7 per cent. The result was that war bonds sold down in the lower 80's, and as Russell Leffingwell of J. P. Morgan and Co. put it in a talk last year "with what devastating results we elders well remember."

In an effort to avoid these devastating results, Mr. Eccles and the Federal Reserve Board have come forward with a plan to "divorce the market for private debt from the market for government securities." It is admittedly an unorthodox plan. But the size of our government debt is also unorthodox, indeed quite unprecedented, and the effect of a drastic fall in the price of government bonds would now be even more devastating than it was in 1920.

Yet there are men of great authority whose views command complete respect, who believe, as one of them wrote to me recently, that inflation cannot be checked as long as the Federal Reserve Board and the treasury believe they must "valorize the total debt of the United States at a level to yield less than 2½ per cent on the longest bonds."

For in holding up government bond prices at this level, the Federal Reserve creates credit, and "the monetary inflation, which is the cause of price inflation, will continue and grow."

Here is the most difficult and the paramount issue which has to be resolved. It is how our enormous war debt is to be managed so that, on the one hand, the price of bonds does not fall seriously and, on the other hand, that the over expansion of bank credit is checked.

The issue is not one, we had better admit, on which any of us who are laymen, have much to contribute. The best we can do is to urge Mr. Eccles and Mr. Snyder and the leading bankers to agree if they can. And if they cannot agree, then to lay before congress and the people as clear statement of just precisely where they disagree.

Turning Point in London

By Joseph Alsop

LONDON, Dec. 9—There is a kind of tense, unspoken drama in the air of London at the moment. At Lancaster House, the wranglings of the foreign ministers make it daily more apparent that the formal division of the world is about to occur. The morning papers, bringing news of France and Palestine, daily proclaim the magnitude of the burden the United States would have to shoulder to meet the Soviet challenge alone in the divided world ahead. And here, meanwhile, in the ancient government offices along Whitehall, in the coalfields, and in the industrial cities of the north, the question of the British future is being decided by the British people.

For Americans, this is a vital question If Britain continues to lose strength, as she has been losing strength continuously since the end of the war, the whole task of meeting the Soviet challenge will fall squarely upon us in every region of the world, from the Baltic to the China Sea. Under the circumstances, it is fortunate that Britain at last seems to be rounding the postwar corner.

Outwardly, things are worse than last year. To be sure, the grim and battered drabness of London is now here and there relieved by a little new paint, which gives the effect of the first hesitant buds of a very late, very cold spring. But rations are lower than a year ago. Queues are longer. People look more shabby and seem less optimistic. The simplest, most ordinary pleasures of life are more expensive and harder to come by. Underneath this depressing surface, however, three major events are at last beginning to take shape, which by this spring should give the British people far better grounds for hope than they have had before.

Natural Occurrence

First, the postwar slump in workers' output seems to be coming to an end. In every country, after every major war, this slackening of effort invariably occurs. It is natural that it should, since the stimulus of self preservation is suddenly removed from men and women who have overdriven themselves for years. Recovery is generally automatic, but until this fall there was a big question in Britain whether the workers would really recover at all. The circumstances of their lives were hard; few prizes could be offered for increased effort. There seemed to be no reason why they should ever begin again to make the same expenditure of energy as before the war.

That doubt has now been largely laid to rest by the crucial figures on coal output. In 1938, production in the mines was 1.14 tons per man shift. At the beginning of this year, it was still only 1.03 tons. But in November, man-shift production in the mines rose to 1.12 tons. This winter there is every reason to hope that the effort of the British workers will return to and perhaps surpass the prewar normal. It speaks volumes for the determination of the British people that this should be happening while the conditions of life have actually deteriorated.

Second, while the workers are getting down to business, the government seems to be doing the same thing. On the one hand, the necessity of limiting national commitments has been faced. At the end of the war, with severely reduced resources, Britain attempted to do twice as ever before. An unprecedented program of internal reconstruction was combined with an immeasurably greater military effort (forced on her by the Soviet Union) than Britain had ever before made in peacetime. Both these forms of effort have now been cut down, although perhaps not so far as may be necessary in the long run.

Puts House in Order

Meanwhile, on the other hand, the labor government has been putting its own house in order. The disastrous Emmanuel Shinwell was some time ago removed from the crucial post of organizer of coal production. And now, by a strange accident, Dr. Hugh Dalton has retired from the Exchequer. He has not gone without doing harm. With a strong assist from our treasury, and an even stronger one from the Bank of England Dalton has the major responsibility for wasting $1,200,000,000 on convertibility. The loss leaves Britain in a temporarily desperate financial situation. But the replacement of Dalton by the brilliantly able Sir Stafford Cripps, and the integration of the whole national economic effort under Cripps' direction, give hope of better things in the future.

Finally, with the British workers and British government getting down to business, it is most important of all that the United States is also getting down to business. The embyro pattern of economic organization for the non-Soviet world can be dimly discerned in the Marshall plan. At the same time, the Marshall plan will at last begin to provide the new capital which Britain so urgently needs. Without the Marshall plan, the British cannot pull through. The present program may prove to be no more than a beginning but the fact that the beginning has been made at least offers the British (and therefore, indirectly ourselves) a way out of what would otherwise have proved a dead end street.

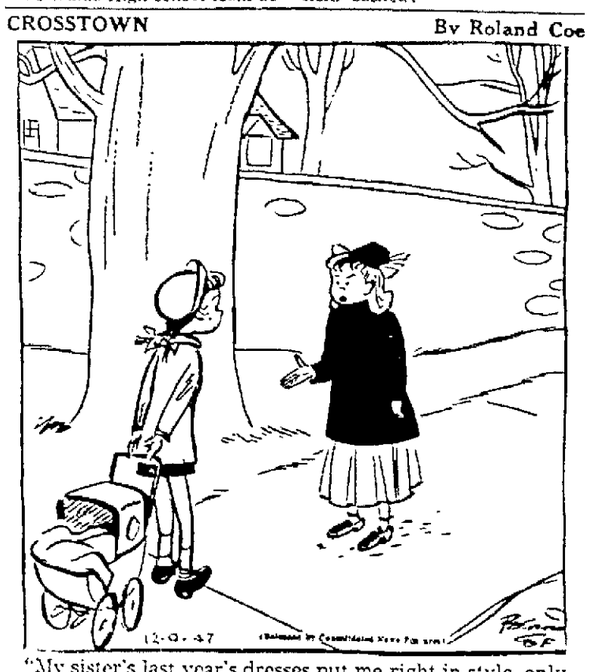
CROSSTOWN

By Roland Coe



"My sister's last year's dresses put me right in style, only now my mother is making me wear long underwear."

Pickle Pointers

Says Business Week in a burst of alliteration: "Pickle packers have packed more pickles than in any previous packing period, yet it appears possible the present pickle pack may be expended before producers can pick and pack and pickle the 1948 planting. Pickle consumption in the year ended Sept. 30 climbed to a record 9,198,280 bushels, and demand is growing at the rate of 1,000,000 bushels a year. The carryover from the 1946 crop was only 1,967,306 bushels."

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Moral: Always Travel Light

THE railroad traveling public may now be seen entering and leaving depots with a pronounced list to starboard, moaning low and whispering profanely. The women travelers look especially sore-going. It is due to the fact, incredible as it may seem, that the railroads have upped repcap fees again, this time to 15 cents per bag or bundle, with the ICC's blessing.

A 200 yard trip for a little old lady with a suitcase, a handbag and one bundle too many will now set her back 45 cents exclusive of tip.

The only traveler who is in a position to take it with a smile is the fellow who steps off the train, signals a porter and points to a bass violin, a sack of cement and an ironed deer.

PHILLIPS

You could have knocked us over with an inflation inquiry when we discovered that it was the railroads that had plopped the extra burden on the cash customer. It seems they get the money and the porters keep only the tips.

* * *

Oh yeah, the porters union has had a part in it. It has boosted wages to a point where a porter now gets 91 cents an hour from the railroads, plus tips. Even without tips this certainly keeps a redcap from the distressed classes. But what hurts is that in the old forward pass routine it is the customer who is again picked as the guy who can take it.

If the ICC had only expressed a few kind words of regret it would have helped. Or if somewhere some railroad had given warning of the jackup with an explanatory So sorry note.

It seems only yesterday that a traveler stepped off a train, handed his bags to a porter and paid what he thought fair. Then a set rate of ten cents a bag or bundle was set, which plus tip, took the edge of enjoyment off many an arrival But this 15 cent schedule can kill the goose that carries anything but a pair of extra socks.

No differentials, no classifications. You pay through the nose the same price to have a brief case, a box of feathers and a paperbag carried that you would pay if you got off the train with an iron stove, a safe and a Shetland pony.

Our heart goes out to somebody's Mother from Wappinger's Falls who arrives in town with four bags she is too weak to tote. And to the woman with a babe in arms, who operates on a thin budget and gets off the train with a suitcase, a collapsible go-cart and two bottles of milk.

* * *

We have a consuming ambition at the moment It is to see a member of the ICC caught short of money but long on baggage.

ECONOMIC RECIPE

You raise all wages, then you take
The costs of living and you kite 'em;
Then wait and raise both once again...
And so ad infinitum.

Why doesn't America have a Crook of the Month Club?

King Michael of Romania is to marry a Princess who once worked in a Fifth avenue department store. Her mother worked in a 53rd street nat store during the war. Between them they should be able to direct Michael, in his present predicament with the Russians, to some place where he can get something just as good for the money.

In the first poll of Catholic college students Bob Hope was voted "barely acceptable" on the radio. This is causing all sorts of comment. As for this department, it holds that Bob, great entertainer and fine personality that he is, has been leaning too much toward the flip, fly and anything-for-a-laugh routine. All he has to do is to realize that the American fireside is not an army or navy camp.

Bee Stings No Sure Arthritis Cure

The common belief that bee stings will alleviate the symptoms of arthritis isn't pure superstition, according to the answer to a query published in The Journal of the American Medical Association, but bee venom therapy cannot be recommended on the basis of the evidence now available.

"Bee keepers have been said to be immune to arthritis and they have been known to dispense the stings of their bees to the sick," The Journal says. "In Europe places existed where rheumatic patients made pilgrimages for the sake of bee sting treatments. The natural venom of the bee contains a poisonous substance similar to cantharidin and a sapotoxin somewhat similar to that found in snake venom. The physiologic effects produced by injections of the venom of bees are said to be analogous to the effects of administering histamine.

"Since the procedure employed for bringing about the stinging of patients by live bees is somewhat hazardous, methods for harvesting the venom have been developed, and purified preparations suitable for injection are now marketed under various trade names.

"The experiences of American physicians with bee venom therapy of arthritis have been varied. Some have been optimistic but, as most of the optimistic reports were based on uncontrolled studies, the results have not been widely accepted . . . Untoward reactions to bee venom therapy are fairly common . . . . On the basis of the evidence available at this time, bee venom therapy cannot be recommended. It is not now in use in any of the representative larger American rheumatism centers."

Are You a Toothpick Chewer?

A patient who had to be operated on because he had apparently swallowed a toothpick along with his club sandwich led Thomas J. Snodgrass, M.D., from the Pember Nuzum Clinic of Janesville, Wis., to comb medical literature for similar case histories. In the current issue of Archives of Surgery, published by the American Medical Association, he comes up with the cheering report that toothpicks in the intestinal tract seem to be the least of a surgeon's worries: his total collection numbers no more than 20 cases.

Dr. Snodgrass does sound a note of warning for those who wear artificial dentures, however: they make up a large proportion of the toothpick-swallowers who must undergo surgery. In most cases the dentures seem to have allowed the patients to ingest the toothpick without feeling it in their mouths. His article also points out previously unrecognized dangers lurking in the martini, the manhattan and the old fashioned, as well as in the canape and club sandwich.

Thirteen of the 20 toothpick cases were diagnosed as acute appendicitis, and in 10 cases an abscess was present. In 13 cases the source of the foreign body was unknown. The two most extraordinary cases were probably those of a little girl who somehow managed to swallow a toothpick while drinking a glass of water and of a man who regularly fell asleep after dinner with a toothpick in his mouth, relying on his wife to remove it. Another man identified his particular splinter of wood as being part of his spaghetti seasoning.

When figures are adjusted to allow for rising prices, the national income of the United States increased about 57 per cent between 1940 and 1944.

By The Associated Press

WARREN, O., Dec. 9—Dr C. W. Banks, a physician in Trumbull county for 41 years, died yesterday at the age of 75.

MRS. ROBERT B. FAIR

Former Marion Girl Weds In Bellefontaine

AN afternoon costume of ice blue satin was worn by Miss Sally Dee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin C Dee of 609 South Main street, Bellefontaine, for her marriage to Robert B. Fair of Kenton, Saturday afternoon. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Boyd W. Fair of Kenton.

Only the immediate families were present for the ceremony read at 12:30 o'clock by Rev. Walter Makley, pastor of St. Patrick's Catholic church in Bellefontaine, in the rectory. Later in the afternoon the bride's parents, who are former residents of Marion, were hosts at a reception for 300 guests at Hotel Harding.

Miss Ann Schaffner, who is attending the University of Wisconsin, came from Madison to be maid of honor and the bridegroom's father served as best man.

The bride's two piece dress was fashioned with long sleeves and the bustle back was accented with a bow of the material. Her half hat, matching her dress, was trimmed with a veil in the same color and she wore white orchids. Miss Schaffner's costume was identical with that of the bride's only in a rose beige shade.

Decorations for the reception were Southern smilax and ferns with bouquets of white roses and chrysanthemums throughout the presidential suite, in the ballroom and on the mezzanine. The lights and walls were hung with garlands of smilax, and greenery outlined the wide windows.

The receiving line was in the presidential suite where California ferns formed a background of greenery and at either side were tall white baskets of white roses and chrysanthemums and seven-branch candelabra holding lighted tapers. The bride's mother was costumed in an afternoon dress of cocoa brown with a pink hat trimmed with a brown aigrette. The bridegroom's mother chose a costume in a winter brown. Both wore gardenia corsages.

The tables in the ballroom were in ice blue and white. The large table held an arrangement of roses and chrysanthemums and was lighted with tapers and at a smaller table was the blue and white tiered bride's cake encircled with foliage and white flowers. Flowers and candles were used on the table from which the punch was served.

Assisting were Mrs. J. Malcolm Strelitz, Mrs O. G. Stephenson, Mrs Howard R. Mapes, Mrs. Walter E. Hane, Mrs. Howard R Stoll, Mrs Walter Schaffner, Mrs. B. H. Buettin, Mrs. George T. When the couple left on a motor trip east the bride was wearing a gabardine suit in a forest green shade, green hat and brown accessories. Upon their return they will be at home at 500 Marie avenue in Kenton where the bridegroom is associated with his father in general insurance.

The bride was graduated from St. Mary Parochial school here in 1943 and from Stephens College for Women at Columbia, Mo. in 1945. The bridegroom was graduated from Kenton High school in 1942, attended the University of Pennsylvania where he affiliated with Delta Kappa Epsilon and served as an officer with the Air Corps for three years.

DRAFT BILL TO ASSIST STATES COLLECT TAX

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—Backers of legislation designed to help Nebraska, Ohio, Florida and other states collect their own cigaret taxes promised today to press for its enactment in January to halt continued loss of state revenues.

Rep. Curtis (R-Neb) told a reporter the state tax is being evaded in the Cornhusker state by sales through the mails from out-of-state dealers direct to retail outlets or consumers. Normally the tax is collected at the dealer-distributor level.

Rep Jenkins (R-Ohio), author of the legislation aimed at remedying the evasion, said tobacco distribution through the mails was depriving Ohio of $250,000 in revenue annually.

His bill would compel out-of-state dealers selling tobacco in inter-state commerce to forward to state tobacco tax administrators a complete invoice of all such sales. Thus supplied with names and addresses of purchasers, the administrators could proceed with tax collections.

Jenkins said his measure is now before the house ways and means committee and that he will strive for action on it next year.

Curtis conferred with Jenkins on the question yesterday after new protests were received from Nebraska officials.

SHAPPARD

Deadly serious, Mr Green followed questioning of prospective jurors closely by both the state and the counsel for Shappard.

Also present in the courtroom were Roxie Green's step-mother and her brother and sister Trey watched proceedings with interest as the preliminaries of the trial got under way.

Nothing Dramatic

Although the proceedings of the morning were for a great part repetitious and free of any courtroom drama, not a spectator left his or her seat during the questioning of prospective jurors.

Ralph and Dwight Carhart conducted lengthy and detailed examination of each prospective juror while the state restricted questioning mainly to queries removing doubt as to the attitude of prospective jurors in regard to scruples against returning a verdict calling for the maximum penalty for Shappard. Defense counsel posed 103 questions at each possible juror.

Misunderstanding Cleared

Only incident during the questioning of possible jurors occurred during the questioning of Edward Huggins by attorney Dwight Carhart. The latter asked Huggins, "Would you be willing to return a verdict of guilty to a charge of first degree murder on the sole fact that Roxie was killed by Ray Shappard?" Receiving an affirmative reply, Carhart indicated cause for excusing Huggins, to which assistant prosecutor Russell Wilhelm objected.

Judge Smith intervened to explain the implication of the charges of first and second degree murder, clearing up a misunderstanding on the part of Huggins, as to the nature of the question asked by Attorney Carhart. The latter withdrew his demand and continued with his queries, several moments later accepting the juror.

CHECK CONTINUES AT GALION PLANT

Special to The Star

GALION, Dec 9 — The cross-check of pledge cards of the United Auto Workers (CIO) against the payroll of the North Electric Mfg Co as of Aug 19, which was resumed Monday was not finished Monday afternoon, after 378 pledge card signers had been interviewed This number represents all who are now working at the Galion plant, but is not enough to reach a decision

Because of conflicting schedules of the arbitrator, Verner E Wardlaw of the United States mediation and conciliation service, who has been conducting the cross-check, and the two observers, Rev. Father William J Spickerman of Marion, and Rev. Norman R Somerville of Galion, the interviews will not be resumed until 1 30 p. m, Thursday

At a conference held at Hotel Tallett, Monday night, between Wardlaw and representatives of the company and union, both company and union agreed to bring in by car the people who are not now working at the plant for interviews, Thursday. A night session will be held in order to complete the cross-check. It is estimated that there are now 150 former employes who have not been interviewed.

Wardlaw said the company and union had agreed that the cross-check will stop when a majority of the unit workers indicated approval or disapproval of the UAW-CIO as bargaining agent A total of 267 votes for or against the union would represent a majority and conclude the cross-check.

The cross-check was recessed Nov 26 after approximately 325 pledge card signers had been interviewed, but the interviews had to be stopped at that time because of conflicting schedules of the arbiter and observers.

Terms of an agreement signed between UAW-CIO and the North Company on Nov. 1, ending a 74-day strike, provided for the cross-check.

SHERIFF ON STAND IN NICHOLS TRIAL

By The United Press

LIMA, Dec. 9—Allen County Sheriff William R Dailey today continued his testimony in the first degree murder trial of Lester Nichols, 42, Silver Lake, Ind.

Sheriff Dailey had just begun to testify regarding his investigation of the alleged slaying of Rev. Lewis Whitaker, 76, in nearby West Newton when court adjourned yesterday.

Seventeen prosecution and six defense witnesses have been subpoenaed to appear before the Allen county jury with the state hoping to close its case Wednesday or Thursday.

The jury yesterday visited the residence of Rev. Whitaker, where Nichols is accused of shooting to death the aged clergyman

Seven state witnesses appeared on the stand yesterday. They were Melvin Nichols, 26, son of the defendant, Mrs. Isabelle Whitaker, widow of the slain man, John Lowman, his wife Rita, and Eddie Fitzgerald, neighbors of the Whittaker family in West Newton, Glenn Hanson, Algei undertaker who removed Rev. Whittaker's body after the shooting, and Dailey.

Young Nichols told of events for several hours prior to the time his father left him in Kenton and drove to West Newton where the shooting took place

Mrs. Whittaker testified Nichols came to her home, broke through a back door after he was refused admittance and cursed his wife before shooting her five times. Mrs. Whittaker testified Nichols killed Rev. Whittaker when he interceded in his daughter's behalf, then turned the gun on himself, inflicting a face wound from which he recovered.

The Lowmans and Fitzpatrick described the scene in the Whittaker home when they were called in after the shooting.

stakes in Europe" because the Communist party in the distressed countries would "move rapidly to take advantage of such a situation"

"Even if the Communist bid for power were not immediately successful, it might well create prolonged civil strife, into which the U S and the U S S R would inevitably be drawn"

The economic consequences would be more serious than the loss of a free Europe, it was asserted, for each of the European countries would draw its colonial holdings into a closer economic grip, excluding American trade

"The entire hope of the world for economic community and for peace would disappear," the statement said. "Thus we must undertake the venture."

For Quick Cough Relief, Mix This at Home

Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, but, for real results it is still one of the most effective and dependable, for coughs due to colds Once tried, you'll swear by it.

It's no trouble. Make a syrup by stirring 2 cups granulated sugar and 1 cup water a few moments until dissolved. No cooking needed—it's so easy! Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup.

Now put 2½ ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with syrup. This makes a full pint of truly splendid cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly, tastes fine, and lasts a family a long time.

And you'll say it's really excellent, for quick action. You can feel it take hold swiftly. It loosens the phlegm, soothes the irritated membranes, and helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy, and lets you get restful sleep.

Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations Money refunded if it doesn't please you in every way.

Pinex Saves Money. Comforting Relief. Easy To Mix.

Five cows were given these pea vines over a period of from 118 to 141 days. None of the animals showed any toxic or ill effects from the DDT which they received from the vines. Animals which were fed milk from the cows grew as well as those which received milk from cows which had not ingested any of the DDT. However, it was found that the milk from the cows receiving the DDT contained 15.6 parts per million of DDT. The substance was also found in the tissues of the slaughtered animals.

DDT in small amounts does not produce toxic symptoms. However, deaths from the ingestion of large amounts of DDT have been reported. Thus, it would appear that care should be taken in the use of this insecticide. The one important rule to follow is never to use more DDT than will accomplish the desired purpose. Certainly widespread spraying of this substance, when no good is to be accomplished, is hardly worth while and may constitute a menace to health.

In Plain Words

By James Marlow

WASHINGTON

HERE'S an ABC on steaming Palestine where Jews and Arabs are killing one another.

Jews and Arabs are of the same race—they're Semites—and both claim Palestine as their homeland.

(Palestine is the size of Vermont, about 10,000 square miles.)

Before the time of Christ the Jews had a kingdom there. It was destroyed and they were scattered.

Since then many nations have held Palestine but some Jews have always been there and Jews everywhere for centuries have dreamed of it as home.

MARLOW

Yet, the Arabs have outnumbered them there and outnumber them now, two to one. In Palestine are 543,000 Jews, 1,201,000 Arabs.

In 1897 Jews formed the Zionist organization—Zion means Jerusalem—and began a fight to set up a new Jewish nation in Palestine.

They got no where for years. By the time of World War I Turkey held Palestine. Britain took it from Turkey in that war.

Then the League of Nations gave Palestine to Britain as a mandate. That means:

Britain was to run Palestine till some way was found of letting the people there run it themselves.

The British told the Jews they favored Palestine as a Jewish home but—

They said they wouldn't let the Jews impose a government of their own upon other people living there.

Yet, the British let Jewish immigrants flow in. The Arabs protested, sometime violently. They were in the majority. They wanted to stay that way.

IN 1939 THE BRITISH cut Jewish immigration to about 1,500 a month but since 1922 the Jewish population there has increased from 84,000 to the present 543,000.

Hitler, meanwhile, had begun his massacre of Jews in Europe. World War II left thousands upon thousands of them homeless there.

So Jewish cries for a Jewish homeland in Palestine grew intense after the war. They wanted at least 100,000 Jewish refugees from Europe admitted.

And in Palestine a group of Jewish extremists began a campaign of terror against the British to force them to open up the country to Jews.

Ever since World War I the British had had to keep troops in Palestine to preserve order. Finally the British had enough.

Last April they dumped the Palestine problem in the lap of the United Nations which is heir to some of the old League of Nations' headaches.

By next Aug. 1, the British said, they would remove all their troops from Palestine and give up their mandate, no matter what happened there.

LAST WEEK THE UN General Assembly did something about it. It voted to split Palestine three ways. The United States and Russia backed the plan.

The split would be this way:

▶A small section — including Jerusalem and Bethlenem—would be an international zone under UN control.

▶The rest of Palestine would be divided into a Jewish state and an Arab state.

(Of Palestine's 10,000 square miles, the Jewish state would get about 5,500 and the Arab state about 4,500).

Those two states are supposed to start in business by Oct. 1, 1948.

But the Arabs are not taking the UN split-up of Palestine lying down. A Jewish state there is the last thing they want.

Last night the Arab league announced it is taking "immediate measures" for military and other action to block creation of a Jewish state.

The Arab world set up this league in 1943. It's made up of seven Arab nations: Egypt, Iraq, Syria, Lebanon, Yemen, Transjordan and Saudi Arabia.

So the struggle and the killing are just beginning.

One Man's Opinion

By WALTER KIERNAN

The administration isn't fooling about the possibility of a fuel shortage this winter . . . It is shipping 99 thousand tons of coal out of the country.

If that doesn't do it we can ship more.

The interior department is asking for controls on coal and the commerce department is pushing it out . . . Someone should introduce Secretary Harriman to Secretary Krug.

If it gets too cold this winter just phone Washington and say "Argentina speaking . . . We need another 27 thousand tons of coal immediately."

The President doesn't have to worry about a fuel shortage . . . He always can go down in a nice warm submarine.

New York Stock Quotations

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—Assorted rails and industrials continued to edge toward recovery in today's stock market although many leaders failed to get anywhere in particular.

Further short covering and other buying still was based on the thought that the list could negotiate a real technical comeback after the recent lengthy slide.

Dealings slackened after a fairly active start. Fractional irregularity ruled near midway.

Attracting support were Santa Fe, Southern Railway, Chrysler, Bethlehem Steel, U. S. Rubber, J. I. Case, Consolidated Edison, North American, Kennecott, J. C. Penney, Union Carbide and Standard Oil (NJ). Pleasing disbursements propped Bulova Watch, Curtiss-Wright and Texas Gulf Producing. Occasional stumblers included Sears Roebuck, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Westinghouse, Anaconda, American Telephone, Western Union and International Nickel.

Conservation Program Expansion Urged

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Dec. 9—Federal and state contributions to conservation programs should be greatly increased, Rep. Kirwan (D-Ohio) said today, to counteract "deteriorating" hunting and fishing conditions.

Kirwan pointed to reports that Ohio's game population is the lowest in history with no chance of immediate improvement and said this situation is general throughout most of the country.

"The conservation business," Kirwan told a reporter, "is one of the biggest in the country with 20,000,000 people buying hunting and fishing licenses every year.

Sketch of New Airport Put on Display Here

For the benefit of Marionites interested in the development of the new municipal airport, city officials have placed a sketch of engineer's plans on the window of the Marion Federal Savings and Loan association on East Center street.

The sketch, while not in complete detail, shows runways, taxi strips and the general layout of the administration area. It also shows the location of the 644-acre field, northeast of the city, in relation to route 30-S, the Pole Lane road and the New York Central and Erie railroad tracks.

The plans, drawn by a Chicago firm of engineers, now await final approval of the Civil Aeronautics Administration. The sketch on display was made by Tom S. Cathers, city engineer.

Ohio State Fans Hold Former Toledo Coach Responsible for Purdue's Haul

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 9—The fight for high school football warriors from Ohio—happy hunting grounds for big-time coaches—is hitting its usual mad pace and rabid Ohio State fans are belligerent and unhappy.

Out of 15 star Ohio high school gridders wanted badly by Ohio State last year, the Buckeye institution actually obtained only three or four.

And the outlook isn't a bit brighter this year.

Around Broad and High streets in downtown Columbus, considered by ardent Buckeyes the football crossroads of the world, you could hear the slow sizzle for blocks when yesterday's controversy over Purdue's potent freshman football team broke into the sports pages.

Well-informed fans held wily Jack Mollenkopf, former coach at Toledo Waite High school, responsible for culling 11 Ohioans for the Boilermakers' yearling squad.

Scouts North-South Game

Hired as an assistant Purdue coach, Mollenkopf did quite a bit of scouting around the annual North-State Ohio high school All-Star game last August. The game attracts the picked seniors of Buckeye scholastic football. It is to the coaches what the International Livestock Show is to farmers.

Some of the less vengeful fans pointed out, however, that Ray Eliot of Illinois and Wes Fesler of Ohio State—the two coaches most directly concerned—had an even better chance than Mollenkopf. Eliot and Fesler were North and South coaches, respectively.

The exodus of Ohio high school footballers to foreign pastures is no idle dream.

The two standouts of last August's All-Star battle were Neil Schmidt, a Bluffton, O., six-footer who was All-Ohio scholastice end, and Dick Doykin of Ironton, a back of unusual promise. Schmidt ended up at Purdue this fall, while Boykin was earmarked by Indiana.

However last reports had Boykin still at his Ironton home, undecided about a collegiate grid career.

Nor is this a recent development. Michigan's Big Nine champions had such star Ohioans as Bob Chappuis, Gene Derricote, Howard Yerges, and Inidana's captain is Howard Brown.

It seems a cinch the bargain basement battling for Ohio prep gridiron greats will continue. Stu Holcomb of Purdue, Bo McMillin of Indiana, Lou Little of Columbia and others are wheeling around the post-season mashed potato circuit with that old familiar gleam.

McMillin will speak at Barberton, home of the 1947 Ohio champions; in Elyria, unbeaten, once-tied, and in Springfield. Little will go calling at Portsmouth, where the 1947 All-Ohio center gets his mail, and at Toledo, where good football players are numbered in the dozens.

Coach Wes Fesler and Athletic Director Dick Larkin from Ohio State are eating more free meals in Ohio hamlets than ever before, but the pessimists wonder how much good it will do. They point to the current rumor that the entire backfield of Grandview, O., unbeaten this season, is scheduled to enter Purdue in a body.

Even so, the best word is Ohio State will register no official squawk at the upcoming Big Nine meeting.

Tug Wilson To Look Into Interstate Raids

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Dec. 9—Ill feeling reported developing at Illinois and Ohio State over Purdue's interstate activity in corralling football players has brought about an investigation by Big Nine Commissioner Kenneth "Tug" Wilson.

Wilson, who has been doing some bloodhounding in regard to alleged laxities of athletic policy at several conference schools, is expected to include the Boilermakers in his itinerary before the league's annual winter meeting here starting Thursday.

LITTLE ALL-AMERICA GRIDDERS NAMED

Denison's Hart Makes First Team, Mention Other Ohioans.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—Football players from 11 different colleges and varying in age from 17 to 28 years make up The Associated Press' Little All-America team for 1947.

Youngest of the players is Eddie Lebaron, T-formation magician for the College of the Pacific while oldest—and by far the heaviest at 284 pounds—is Dan D'Andrea, center for Pacific Lutheran.

While these two hail from the far west, the all-star lineup is culled from every sector of the United States and is made up of players whose alma mater's size and schedule kept them from sharing the national headlines with the football mastadons.

Playing ability of the athletes on the Little All-America, as compared with those on the All-America proper, is not involved. Two members of the 1946 Little A-A now are more than holding their own in the two major professional circuits.

The 1947 Little All-America football team:

Pos.	Player	College
E	William Hart,	Denison
T	Ken Dubard,	Wofford
G	James Nelson,	Missouri Valley
C	Dan D'Andrea,	Pac. Lutheran
G	Arthur Oley,	Randolph-Macon
T	Felton Whitlow,	North Texas
E	Bill Iannicelli,	Frank. & Mar.
B	Eddie Lebaron,	Coll of Pacific
B	Darwin Horn,	Pepperdine
B	Robert Handon,	Loras
B	Harold Bell,	Muhlenberg.

Paul Dietzel, of Miami (O.) placed on the second team as center, and Myron Carman, of Toledo, made that position on the third team.

Among those receiving honorable mention were ends: James Madison, Ohio Wesleyan; Richard Fornoff, Kenyon; Richard Huston, Toledo; Edson Rupp, Denison; and Walter Sellers, Wilberforce.

Snatches of Sports

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
AP Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—Basketball teams, like boxers, have definite styles says Ken Loeffler, the St. Louis Bombers' coach . . . That can explain a lot of unusual happenings in both sports—such as the recent Louis-Walcott fray—but Loeffler was referring mainly to the ups and downs of the Basketball Association of America . . . The Bombers, for instance, would rather play the Baltimore Bullets than the New York Knickerbockers . . . "They have a set style like the old pros," Ken explains. "We can stop that." . . . The Knicks, on the other hand, have a helter-skelter bunch of youngsters like Carl Braun, who busted loose for a record 47 points last Saturday . . . Braun took 35 shots of all varieties and sank 18 of them. There's not much you can do about that kind of shooting.

MOST BOWLERS can go a lifetime without even seeing a 300 game, but the latest American Bowling Congress newsletters reports two perfect-game oddities that beat anything you ever saw or heard . . . In the Philadelphia Major league Johnny Beans completed a 300. When the alley was cleared of pals congratulating Johnny, Al Di Giacomo, rolling on the opposing team, stepped up and delivered his last two strikes for a perfect game . . . And in Milwaukee Herb Putnam rolled 12 straight strikes. When the handshakers approached, Herb brushed them off. "Quit bothering me. I've still got another ball," he insisted. And it wasn't until they showed him the score sheet that he recalled one strike he had overlooked.

Prexies To Be Feted Tonight At Annual Football Banquet

Harding High school football players, their fathers, and those who worked for a successful Prexy football season this fall will be honored at a banquet sponsored by the Harding Athletic association in the First Evangelical United Brethren church tonight at 6:45.

Guest speaker for the occasion will be Coach Woody B. Hayes, who piloted Denison university to their first undefeated, untied football season this year in 58 years of play.

Hayes became mentor of the Big Red in 1946 and led them from a fair season in that year to a perfect record, an Ohio conference championship, and top-ranking among Ohio's college elevens this year.

A graduate of Newcomerstown High school and Denison university, Hayes coached at Mingo Junction High school and New Philadelphia before returning to his alma mater. He served in the Navy during the war.

COACH WOODY HAYES

About 160 are expected to attend the dinner tonight.

Harding cheer leaders are in charge of table decorations.

CINCINNATI REDS TO REVAMP LINEUP

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 — Eddie Miller, who turned in a good performance at shortstop for the Cincinnati Reds last season after he changed his mind about quitting baseball for good, will be switched to third base next spring.

Grady Hatton, stocky Texan assigned to the hot corner for the Reds the last two campaigns, will go to centerfield.

Virg Stallcup, up from Jersey City of the International league, gets first crack at the shortstop job.

Johnny Neun, Cincinnati manager, revealed intentions to change his lineup while attending the major leagues' annual meeting here—but said switches depend on whether Hatton can play center field.

Clutch Putting Gives Douglas Orlando Open

By The Associated Press

ORLANDO, Fla., Dec. 9 — Clutch putting by Dave Douglas gave the young pro golfer from Wilmington, Del., his first big money victory as the winter circuit opened with the $10,000 Orlando Open tournament over the Dubsdread Country club links.

Douglas had to go 19 holes in the playoff yesterday before he defeated Jimmy Demaret, colorful veteran pro from Ojai, Calif. Herman Keiser of Akron, O., who tied Douglas and Demaret with 271 for the 72 holes tourney and also was in the playoff, finished third.

BROWNS' BERARDINO GOES TO CLEVELAND

Believed Bought for Trading Purposes—Tigers Want Him.

By International News Service

CLEVELAND, Dec. 8 — The Cleveland Indians announced today the purchase of infielder Johnny Berardino from the St. Louis Browns for an undisclosed sum of cash and outfielder George Metkovich.

Bill Veeck, Tribe president, declared that the Indians parted with "the largest cash outlay that Cleveland has made for a player since the purchase of Earl Averill."

Berardino declared his intention of quitting baseball for a movie career a few weeks ago when the Browns announced his sale to the Washington Senators. Baseball Commissioner A. B. Chandler, however, nullified the trade.

"Berardino has assured me that he will play baseball for us," Veeck said.

The Indians president also revealed that the Detroit Tigers had offered St. Louis three players and $50,000 in cash for Berardino but were turned down.

The move was interpreted in Cleveland circles as another effort by Veeck to buy players for trading purposes. Although Berardino can play any position in the infield but first base, there is little likelihood that he will remain with the Indians.

"The Tigers are definitely interested in Berardino and we would like to have Hal Newhouser," Veeck said.

Metkovich played a capable center field for the Indians last season but was a light hitter, finishing the season with an average of less than .260.

JERSEY JOE OFFERED RETURN TITLE BOUT

Extended 20% of Expected $1,000,000 Summer Gate.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 9 — If Jersey Joe Walcott is willing to accept 20 per cent of what would certainly be a million-dollar gate, he can have a midsummer return bout with Joe Louis.

After hearing the New York State Athletic Commission reject his request for a reversal of Friday night's split decision which enabled Louis to retain the world heavyweight title, Walcott was advised that the champion was willing to meet him again, this time in Yankee Stadium.

The commission's decision yesterday surprised practically nobody. Walcott appeared with his manager, Joe Webster, before Chairman Eddie Eagan and Dr. C. P. Powell, two of the three commissioners, and was told that the board had no "desire to interfere with the exercise of the discretion and judgment of competent appointed officials."

Brooklyn Expected To Add Sequel To Pittsburgh Trade

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Dec. 9—Despite vigorous denials by Brooklyn officials, the Dodgers today were expected to add a sequel to the six-man trade with Pittsburgh by sending shortstop Billy Cox to the Chicago Cubs for first baseman Eddie Waitkus or Phil Cavarretta.

The Dodgers are well manned at short with the redoubtable Pee Wee Reese. Branch Rickey's plan, rumors insist, is to play Jackie Robinson, last year's first baseman, at second and send Eddie Stanky, the scrappy little second baseman, to St. Paul of the American Association as manager.

Another report, also strongly denied, has the New York Yankees ready to announce the acquisition of pitcher Early Wynn of the Washington Senators.

Hegan Sought

But the most sought after player at these meetings is catcher Jim Hegan of the Indians.

Detroit has offered either pitcher Dizzy Trout or Virgil Trucks, catcher Hal Wagner and outfielder Pat Mullen for Hegan and first baseman Elbie Fletcher. The Indians, however, are holding out for outfielder Hoot Evers, who is "untradeable," according to Tiger general manager Billy Evans.

Washington is willing to part with pitcher Mickey Haefner and centerfielder Stan Spence in return for Hegan and rookie pitcher Bob Kuzava but has received no response from the Indians. The Yankees have shown a preference for Hegan but are reluctant to give up outfielder Allie Clark until they are convinced that Charley Keller has fully recovered from a back ailment.

The Indians also have made a "stupendous" offer for Sam Zoldak control pitcher of the St. Louis Browns, but were turned down. It was said that the Indians offered $100,000 for the 24-year-old lefthander.

National League Trade Winds

The rumor boys were a little easier on the National league. Cincinnati, desperately seeking a centerfielder, was willing to part with pitcher Johnny Vander Meer, catcher Ray Mueller and outfielder Bert Haas for Harry Walker of Philadelphia. Manager Ben Chapman of the Phils countered by demanding either pitcher Ewell Blackwell or third baseman Grady Hatton for Walker, the National league's champion batter.

The Senators sent second baseman Gerry Priddy to the St. Louis Browns in a straight cash transaction involving a reported $25,000. Priddy is the player sent to the Browns along with $40,000 in the deal for Johnny Berardino last month. The deal was cancelled by Commissioner Chandler when Berardino announced that he was retiring from baseball to act in the movies.

The most important legislative action at the meetings is expected to concern the Pacific Coast league. It was learned that the majors definitely will turn down the P.C.L.'s bid for major league recognition and will suggest a counter proposal with a plan to take in four P.C.L. clubs for the purpose of forming two 10-team leagues.

Philly President Takes Dim View of Cox Trade

By International News Service

PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 9—Bob Carpenter, young Phillies' president, today took a dim view of the six-player deal in which the Pittsburgh Pirates sent Shortstop Billy Cox to Brooklyn.

Bob said he offered the Bucs $150,000 and players for Cox, but had been turned down. Preparing for the major league conclave in New York tomorrow, Carpenter declared:

"There isn't much use going to the meeting when they pull off trades like that. The players we offered Pittsburgh for Cox were even better than the ones the Dodgers gave them."

The Phillies' chieftain added that he was willing to spend half a million dollars for new talent—if it was major league talent.
